“ Don was my father in law, but he was my dad. He always said, " I'm your dad" and "you are my daughter too" He chose to love me as one of his own when he didn't have to. I loved this man so much and he honestly was a hero to me. I want to be more like him and the light he gave in this world, to his family and all the lives that he touched. He was faithful, and generous, and he walked in love. I will miss our talks about the Lord, I will miss his visits and the hard time he liked to give me, I will miss his encouraging words he offered me in hard times, and the look of joy on his face whenever I shared good news. He was one of my favorite people on this earth. I am happy for him, for he lives in Christ and his rewards are great. I can almost imagine the look on his face when he finally met Jesus face to face, what a blessed man he was! He was a great dad.... he was a great man.... he was one of a kind. I love you Don, and I thank you for all you have taught me and most of all.... thank you for loving me as your daughter. I'll see you soon, and hope you are one of the first to greet me when it's my turn. Not good bye, but I'll see you later.

“ My uncle Don was a kind and generous soul. He was a man who would give a stranger the shirt off his back if they asked, then pull out his wallet and give them the last dollar he had. He was also a gifted artisan, creating the most beautiful leatherworks you could imagine. I'm pretty sure his workshop was his heaven on earth. He loved his family and his Savior with everything he had. That's what I'll keep in my heart forever!

To the Whittle and Charboneau family, I love you! And I can't wait to give you all a big hug and share the wonderful memories of Don together.
