

Edgar Ivan Tijerin Maldonado

September 20, 1982 - December 6, 2024

Edgar was a man of great strength and quiet dedication. Through the many challenges he faced in life, one truth remained constant: his unwavering love and care for his children and family.

As a father, he was a provider, a protector, and a teacher. He worked tirelessly to ensure that his children had not just what they needed, but also the security of knowing they were deeply loved. Despite the storms of life, he stood firm, making sacrifices to build a foundation of stability and care for his family. His acts of kindness and provision were often unspoken but always felt, leaving an indelible mark on the lives he touched.

Though life was not without its difficulties, Edgar never allowed his circumstances to diminish his commitment to those he loved. He carried the weight of responsibility with humility and grace, exemplifying what it means to be a selfless father. His brothers, family, and children carry forward his legacy of resilience, love, and strength.

As we gather to honor his life, we remember the sacrifices he made and the love he gave. His memory will continue to inspire and guide us, reminding us of the profound impact one life can have on others.

May we find comfort in the knowledge that he is now at peace, resting in the arms of his Heavenly Father.