“ Doupye it was always just me and you in the beginning, you were my first brother. I love you so much and words can't express how I feel right now. I know we grew apart but you will always be my brother. I can't believe you are gone it's so unreal to have to write this post. I remember when I used to make my closet forts and get mad when mama used to tell me to make you one, how I wish I could hug you again hold you and tell you I'll always be here right here for you. I am my brother's keeper and you will always be in my heart.
