Biography

Marjorie Erica Louise Klingaman

Marjorie Manz Klingaman, beloved wife, mother, sister, and friend, was born on March 21, 1955 in Coronado, California to Marjorie Manz (nee: Shook) and Alexander Manz, while her father was a lieutenant in the Navy. She was a graduate of Northern Iowa University with a Bachelor of Arts degree in education. She married her husband of 35 years on a picture perfect summer day in a rose garden in 1977. Marji loved children and was a teacher of elementary school and special education for 10 years before retiring to raise her children. As a mother, Marji brought her creativity and joyful spirit into every part of raising her two sons. Marji had a tender heart toward the hurting, and always had a kind word for anyone suffering. She volunteered as a tutor to low-income children and at the Sherwin Miller Jewish Museum. Marji loved and trusted Christ, and was a member Christ Presbyterian Church in Tulsa for 18 years. Marji went home to be with her gracious Savior on September 2, 2012. She is survived by her devoted and loving husband, Michael, her son Daniel, her son Kevin, her daughter-in-law Holly, her granddaughter Maya of Houston, TX, her sister Anne-Marie and brother-in-law Earl Banks of Olathe, KS, her brother Alex of Columbus, OH, her brother Eric of Des Moines, her mother Marjorie Manz of Olathe, KS, her father Alexander Manz and wife Betty of Maumelle, AR, her niece Melinda Banks Brown of Spring Hill, KS, her nephew Earl Banks, Jr. of St. Augustine, FL, and her niece Chloe Manzof Columbus, OH. Words cannot express the depth of our sorrow over losing our beautiful, gentle, and compassionate Marji, but we are overjoyed that she is at rest and in peace in heaven above.
