“ Our hearts will never fully be mended after this loss. Our father loved his daughters, three granddaughters and 2 great granddaughters fiercely, protected, cherished and was our biggest cheerleader right up to his last breath. He was very much looking forward to seeing and holding his first great grandson. He loved fishing & hunting from a very young age, enjoyed entering duck calling contests in his younger days and took 2nd in one. He was a gifted writer and had various poems, short stories and opinion pieces published throughout his life. He enjoyed riding his Harley when he was still able to do so and so many other things that would take forever to write down. His hero was always John Wayne and collected everything related to him. To say he will be missed is an understatement. We love you dad ❤️
