“ Rex and I reconnected on Facebook about 18 months ago. September last year Aunt Mary and I went to visit him. I was so happy to see him! He was still the welcoming and fun guy I remember him to be as kids. I am so happy we were able to catch a little and spend time together! I only wish I had done so more often. I will never forget the joy, bear-like embrace and the ear-to-ear grin he had on his face when he saw us. He was so happy to have family with he he had not seen in far too long.

He sat on the side of his bed, Aunt Mary in the recliner, and me on a side chair as we shared our sweet memories. Over and over he kept repeating how much he loved his family—ALL of them. He spoke of his faith and how God had touched him, and about his love for the Word. He had his black Bible with his name on it right beside him. He said he would like a Bible cover so I sent him one. He was so proud of that & treasured it sending me a photo of him holding his Bible in the cover. Sweet photo. 💖. He spoke of one day reuniting with all his beloved family already in heaven.

As kids I do not recall much as we kind of all went different directions. But, I do remember that infectious smile of him and the genuine happiness to see you.

I love you, cousin. I am happy for you walking with the Lord now, healthy and whole!
