“ Remembering Rick as a dear and caring bro in law, telling me how precious to him his siblings here in the Philippines and was glad that we have such a good family. expressing his desires to go and visit Philippines and eat adobo and pansit.. remembering and helping us in spite of this pandemic sending us "ayudas" even before the govt does.. will truly miss him. Rest in peace Ricky.

“ I was 11, and Ricky was 14, it was his first year of playing Senior League baseball, and his team was the Expos. We were each other’s best fan. His face lit up when he hit his first triple, we looked at each other and shouted Yeah!!

Ricky was a quiet and very intelligent man, he could do a back flip, and cartwheel so smooth. As we got older, I looked up to him as a man that’s a hard worker, loved and care for his family and serving his country with the US Navy was his priorities. I’ll miss your bbq ribs, your smiles, and our talks. Say Hi to Dad, Mom, and Vernon there Big Brother. I Love You 🤝👍

“ It didn't matter we all the STACYS. Men loved the competition. No matter if was swimming surfing or simply the other sports it's what our dad wanted us to do. So as we were young until we got to our teenager years we would be prepared for it. I learned track and basketball from Richard well what else can a younger brother like me to learn Yes although I did get into some troubles I SIMPLY loved going to Socials and meeting chicks from other schools I guess that's why even as my 4 year going 5years girlfriend that I had. Still didn't. Didn't have a hold on me. And nor did I have on her simple rules girls never sleep with girlfriends friend that's a no no here.And. to my Brother Richard I was very proud of you when you enlisted in the Navy. But you know me I never was afraid to accept any challenges

“ My dad loved to fish every chance he got and would always bring me. One Saturday like most he woke me early to go catch some catfish, His secret bait bologna and cheese. I liked to fish but didn't love it for sure. I just wanted to watch t.v. and sleep in that particular weekend. So we packed up the truck and brought our dog with us that day. When my dad wasn't looking I gave my dog his secret bait, figured after the hour drive we would just go home. He spanked the dog went home dropped him off got more bait then drove another hour back out to go fishing. I never told him and never tried to sabotage another trip. He was persistent with things he wanted and thought best. Thank you for teaching me and always being there when I needed. Love and miss you always J.R.

“ When Richard was dating my sister, there was this one time when Danette and I were playing basketball in the driveway. Well, Richard pulled up and joined the game. About an hour and ½ later, he went to pick up Denise, well she was so mad that he was late and spent all that time playing with her little sisters and not telling her that he was on time, just didn’t come in the house. He loved playing Basketball games with his brothers-in-law and always made time to play with the kids.

Your Dad was always kind to everyone, and there are so many memories of Holidays where we played games and laughed. He taught us how to play “Mississippi Spades”; we still love that game and play it often. We will truly and incredibly miss Richard. He has probably already found a Basketball game in Heaven, but instead of playing HORSE, they likely spell JESUS.
